Preparatory Workshop for Hawaii Cultural Study Tour

A preparatory workshop was held for the third batch of participants to gain a better picture of Hawaii culture, by understanding the reasons of establishment for the Polynesian Cultural Centre (PCC), the diverse cultures in Hawaii and the key learning points from various communities. Chuang Chiao-yun from the previous batch emphasized that connection, trust and co-sharing responsibility are crucial values. The team split into smaller groups to discuss topics such as tourism, marketing design, indigenous education and land conservation, elaborating on observations from their respective communities. The discussion involved brainstorming for solutions, setting the direction for the team's learning and effective teamwork.

Junyi's Inaugural High School Graduation Ceremony

Junyi's graduation week was held from 12 to 14 June. The inaugural batch of graduates, along with ninth-graders, presented special interest reports. Themes included artificial intelligence, transitional justice, belonging, to name a few. Chair Yen said the reports represent parting lessons for students to understand themselves better, and letting the teachers enter students' lives. Graduate Wang Shu-yu said the most important thing in life is not to avoid discomfort but to live with it, and turn it into acceptance and enjoyment. Graduates wore formal clothes such as tribal wear, representing their communities, and received well-wishes for their next journey in life.

Ci-xin Waldorf School: Eighth-graders' Special Reports

77 eighth-graders of the Ci-xin Waldorf School presented their special reports over six days beginning 6 June, showcasing artistic works inspired by family relations to self-reflections. Teachers and students of Guangzhou Tianyun Waldorf School made an observation trip. Luodong High' s Teacher Chen Boru brought her students from the mainstream system to be exposed to such reports which they can explore too. Eleven batches of Ci-xin students have benefitted from the experience. A student started learning the Minnan language to communicate with his grandmother. A student with Down Syndrome sang the Moana theme song on stage, hoping that she can be as courageous as the female lead, touching teachers and parents in the audience.
