

Cover Story x Two Articles

Cover story: Using donated cameras to open A New Vista for Children

A New Vista for Children, a campaign first launched in November 2011 by The Alliance Cultural Foundation (ACF) is in its fourth year running. With smartphone and tablet cameras substituting the digital camera, it encourages people from across the country to donate their unused cameras to children from rural and remote communities of Hualien and Taitung (Huatung) to learn to capture moments of their childhood, and to foster the ability to observe their surrounding through the lens of a camera. The campaign brings together photography professionals from different regions of Taiwan to volunteer in Huatung schools to conduct photography as an extracurricular lesson... Read more

Surfing and hiking in Donghe Township

Donghe Township hugs the coastline north of Taitung City. In fall and winter, this is a favorite destination for surfers, both professional and amateur, from all over the world. In the summer, the waves are not as high and this is a good time for swimming and taking surfing lessons. However, this is not just a surfers' paradise, but also a natural one, set against the backdrop of majestic mountains, including Dulan Mountain, which is considered sacred by the Amis and Puyuma tribes...

Read more

Yuli Music Camp

Spring of 2015, renowned Taiwan indigenous music composer and drummer Lee, Shou-Hsin, together with guitarist Huang, Zhong-Yue, pianist Martin Musa, bass player Xu, Chong-Yu led a 3-day Yuli Music Camp in Hualien's Chun-Rih Elementary School. The camp aims to touch the lives of children living in Taiwan's rural and remote communities with music and to let them appreciate its beauty and diversity... Read more

